Lively Times.

As will be seen by reading to-day's paper, there is lively times in the city political camp. A People's convention will be held to-day; People's candidates have, been nominated in all the wards; in the First ward, some are dissatisfied with the ward nominations, and an independent caucus has been called to meet at the Leland House next Monday evening, to fix matters so that ward run little different." And now, to add to the life of the occasion, we have below a Republican set of calls for ward caucuses next Tuesday evening, and a city convention at two P. M. on Thursday the 19th inst. Well go in, gentlemen, we presume there is ottume like keeping things mixed.

Republican City Convention.

The Republican electors of the respective wards of the city of Brainerd, are hereby requested to meet at their respective places of ward caucuses, on Tuesday, the 17th day of December, 1872, at 7 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of nominating one Mayor, 1 City Treasurer, and one Recorder, to be voted for at the coming city election, Dec. 23th, 1872.

FIRST WARD CALL.

The qualified Republican electors are requested to meet at the Leland House, corner of Third and Front streets, on Tuesday evening, December 17th, 1872, at 7 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of electing Five delegates to represent said ward in the City Convention, to be holden at the Court House, in said City of Brainerd, on the 19th day of December, 1872, at 2 o'clock, P. M., and also to put in nomination the candidates for Alderman, and one Justice of the Peace for said Ward.

SECOND

A caucus will be held in the 2nd Ward, at Union Hall, on the the same evening and for the same purpose as the First.

THIRD

To be held at the Headquarters Hotel — for the same purpose as above.

Military Orders.

Headquarters, Company "E" 3d Regiment, Minnesota State National Guard, Crow Wing Co., Minn., Dec. 14, 1872.

General Orders No. 2

Commissioned officers shall provide themselves with Uniform Clothing, on or before Regular Drill, December 21, 1872. The following is the Uniform, as this order stands, and should be adhered to:

Marshal for Officers (to officers) and in addition thereto shall have their commissions attached.

By Command. J. C. WALTERS, 1st Lieut. Com. Company

Headquarters, Company "E" 3d Regiment, Minnesota State National Guard, Crow Wing Co., Minn., Dec. 14, 1872.

General Orders No. 3

A Military Court Martial is hereby ordered to convene at the Armory of Company "E" 3d Regiment, Minnesota State National Guard, on Friday Evening, Dec. 20, 1872, for the trial of Mike Horan and H. [illegible] and such other business as may properly come before the Court.

The Members of the Court: President, Lieut. Henry Dressen; Sergeant Thos. Riley; Corporal, M. H. Kellogg; and Privates John Reynolds and John Donahan. Orderly for the occasion, Sergeant Thos. Blomquist.

By Command. J. C. WALTERS, 1st Lieut. Com. Company

CHRISTMAS TREAT.—I hereby notify all the poor families of Brainerd, who are not able to buy a turkey for their Christmas dinner, that if they will send the three oldest living members of children, etc., that I will furnish each of such families with one of those fat dressed turkeys, as a treat on that occasion, free of charge. If any of our overgrown know of any needy families in their respective parishes, they will please be kind enough to handing their names. J. C. WALTERS.

BOUGHT OUT.—By reference to their advertisement elsewhere, it will be seen that Messrs. Martin & McLean have bought out the Billiard Hall on Front Street, heretofore owned by Mr. Frank Dunn, and have already taken possession. The new proprietors purpose putting the whole establishment through a regular course of repair, and fitting up one of the best billiard halls in Northern Minnesota, with all the modern improvements and attachments. The rear end of the building will be divided off into private rooms and parlors, and elegantly furnished for the accommodation of gentlemen. The new proprietors are popular, and will no doubt receive a goodly share of patronage from the amusement loving classes, and "billiardists" generally.

OUR HOLLIDAY BOOK.—The beautiful edition of Holliday Books we have promised our patrons is now in press, and will be published some time the coming week. We datter ourself that our book will prove one of the most useful and entertaining productions ever issued by a Minnesota journalist, and we distribute them among the people free of charge, and with it we will wish all our friends a merry Christmas and a happy New year.

RICHEST DISPLAY OF ALL.—The most elaborate display of Christmas goods, and the best selected assortment in Brainerd, is now on exhibition at the Dacre Store. The stock comprises the latest novelties to be found in the Eastern markets, and something suited to both old and young, male and female. Rush around and see it while the stock is full. A most beautiful line of Toilet Goods and Perfumeries has also just been received; toilet sets especially adapted for Holliday presents. Call and see the sights.

ADMINISTRATOR APPOINTED.—Sheriff John Gurrell has been appointed Administrator of the estate of he late John C. Barr, who died recently under the influence of liquor at the Yellow Jacket.

Hotel Horror.

A fearful calamity occurred in New York on Tuesday, by the partial burning of the Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York City. There were over twenty persons burned to death; principally employees of the hotel, and nearly all servant girls. The details make one of the saddest paragraphs we ever read, and one that is a relief to everybody not to see at all. Surely we live in a calamitous age, and nothing short a gigantic horror can elicit more than a passing remark any more.

DULUTH is some on phantoms.—The latest specimen of "phantom" that has been troubling the Zenithites, was a full rigged schooner, which haunted their vision for a day or two as she laid at the edge of the ice away in the outer harbor. After dreaming about ghosts and hobgoblins a night or two, they discovered it to be a small fishing smack, proving around out there in quest of "suckers," and the mirage made it look like a large ship. The hant of "suckers" made off the little smack, however, seems to have been large.

REDUCTION ON THE RAILROAD.— We understand that our Congregational friends have made arrangements with the Railroad Company to have special rates of fare for parties who will attend their Fair next Thursday night, from Duluth or elsewhere on the line. We expect a large delegation of Duluth friends to be present on the grand festal occasion.

CHRISTMAS TREE.— The Episcopal Society are preparing to get up a mammoth Christmas Tree, for the children, which will be on exhibition loaded with presents, at the Church, Christmas Eve. The Sabbath School Scholars will be on tip-toe, and they have good reason to be.

[illegible]—Hundreds on hundreds of the [illegible] Pickets, tooth picks, corks, etc., etc., all as uniform as peas, neat, pretty, sweet feed, dried meat, etc., for the hunters, may be found at Frank Keahner's, on First street.

SWEET CIDER at Brown's, fifth street.

[illegible] door east of Walters' [illegible] Department, has one of [illegible] Stock of goods in [illegible] which he is selling at [illegible] suited to the times. Be the ladies, [illegible] in need of any thing [illegible] in him, and [illegible] everything elsewhere.

Ladies' and Children's Furs, very cheap, at Murphy's, Fifth street.

ACCIDENT.—A man named Wm. O'Connor, was gored to death by a mad bull in St. Paul, on Wednesday evening, in a stable. He was literally disembowelled, and torn to pieces.

BRAINERD SKATING RINK.—A company of our enterprising young men, found not to be outdone by others in the line of healthy and popular amusements for the winter, have determined to open up a first class park down on the river at the ferry landing.—They intend fixing up the rink with all the necessary appurtenances for the comfort of skaters, and will have facilities for dowing the ice as often as they wish, and will keep skates, etc., and charge only a reasonable fee for the privilege of skating to your heart's content. Now, young lads and lassies is your time for a moonlight slide, and the old boys should stretch their legs a little occasionally, as well.—Hurrah for the new skating rink.

FOR your Christmas candies and toys call at the New Book Store on Fir st Street, following from the Post-office. Also a fine selection of save ral books. 44-2

THE BAPTIST SOCIABLE which came off at the Baptist Chapel on Thursday evening, was a most pleasant affair.—There was a goodly attendance of ladies and gentlemen, and the occasion was one calculated to encourage the most sociable feelings between neighbors and friends, and it is to be hoped these sociables may be kept going all the winter, as they are invaluable in bringing society nearer together and shed a most salutary influence in a community.

TWICE TWO MAKES ONE.—One of our enterprising business men, who has heretofore been going it alone, for lo, these many years, has gone to St. Paul, or some place else, for the purpose, as we understand, of adding to his household gods that crowning glory—a wife. Now, that is emphatically as it should be, and we welcome him to the tribe of benedicts, one of which we ourself are whom. Were it not that we have been sworn to secrecy (and when we swear to a thing that fixes it,) we should tell who it is; but even now we cannot refrain from giving the initial letters of his name, just to set all hands to guessing, which same is, G. A. H.—endricks, Esq., who keeps a hotel at Glyndon, and a restaurant at Brainerd, neither of which are eclipsed this side of Constantinople, or any other place. Well, "Gus," here's good luck, a long and happy life, and we go for the water bottle.

Fair and Festival.

The event of the whole season, will doubtless be the grand Festival, Fair and Supper, to be given at Ely's Hall, on Thursday evening next, the 19th inst., under the auspices of the Congregational Society of Brainerd. The most elaborate and liberal preparations have been made to make every department of the occasion a complete success, and we feel confident that it will be a festive occasion the equal of which has never yet been seen in our two year old city. The time is propitious, the location of the Fair is central, and the quarters are ample and suitable. Let everybody be present to see the sights, and partake of the good things of holliday time, and enjoy a social season not soon to be forgotten.

HERE is what the Duluth Tribune says about the good people of the Zenith City coming to visit the Fair, and it is worst to the wise will doubtless prove sufficient:

"Now, as there are scores of people in Duluth who are just "dying" for an opportunity to visit Brainerd, the young "City of the Pines," and become acquainted with her people, would it not be a good plan for our Congregational friends out there, to have an arrangement made with the N. P. road, whereby persons here desiring to attend the above festival, could do so at merely nominal fare!

There are many here, who would cheerfully expend a few dollars, at the forthcoming festival, in aid of the Congregational Church of Brainerd, but who do not feel able to pay their fare to and from Brainerd, for the privilege of so doing.

Now, if our Congregational friends at Brainerd desire to see a large delegation of Duluthians at their festival we hope they will see how liberal an arrangement they can make with the N. P. railroad company, and advise our citizens accordingly."

[illegible] and French Poplins at Murphy's, Fifth street. 43-3

It is a positive fact that CASTWELL [illegible] just what he says in his advertisement, and is selling Winter Clothing, Comforters, Boot Pacs, Shoe Pacs, etc., etc., cheaper by far than any house in this part. If any of our readers have not been informed, and have not taken advantage of his low prices, they had better do so at once.

A full line of the various kinds at Johnson's, Lower street, east of 5th.

[illegible] STRACHER, opposite Tribune office, has just received, and is receiving, a large stock of choice Bourbon, Whiskies, Wines, Brandies, New England Rum, etc. The large amount he sells is sufficient recommendation for the quality he keeps of this kind of goods. Buy where nothing but a good article is kept.

SCHOOL MEETING.— The qualified electors of the independent school district, of town of Brainerd, Crow Wing County, are requested to meet at the Baptist Chapel, at 7 o'clock, on Monday evening, Dec. 16th, to select six men to be voted for on the 20th inst., for School Trustees, of said district.

WE regret to learn that General Ira Spaulding, formerly chief engineer of the Minnesota Division of the N. P. R. R., is lying at the point of death in New York, with fever.

SEVERELY ILL.—We are pained to announce that Superintendent C. T. Hobart, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, has been very sick during the present week, with the enteric fever, that has prevailed throughout the Northwest to such an alarming extent; during the past three months, Mr. Hobart had a touch of it last week; but was confined to his room for two or three days; but, getting betit, he went out and it is thought took a severe cold, when a relapse came on, and a good portion of the present week his fever has been rugue, and at times his case has been considered very serious. Just before going to press yesterday evening we went to Headquarters to ascertain his condition, and were delighted to find that the fever had taken a turn for the better, and he was resting very comfortably. Dr. Samuel Thayer, the attending physician, says all he requires now is rest and good care. We hope our friend Hobart may not "get in a passion" about outside matters, but subdue his restless spirit, and let business wag as it will, until he becomes thoroughly convalescent, lest he should again be thrown upon a bed of sickness. As soon as he has sufficiently recovered he intends going east to spend three or four weeks on a visit of business and pleasure combined, and his hosts of friends here will wish him a pleasant time and safe and speedy return.

THE ST. CLOUD TIMES.—This journal, which was completely consumed in the recent fire at that place, comes to us again this week in a new dress and otherwise improved. It is now conducted and owned by W. H. Lamb, Esq., who evinces pluck, ability and artistic taste, as a printer, publisher and editor. We wish brother Lamb every success in his re-establishment of the Times.

Report on the Northern Pacific R. R.

The Commissioners appointed to inspect the Minnesota Division of the Northern Pacific Railroad, prior to its acceptance by the Government, on Tuesday, made their report to the Secretary of the Interior, substantially as follows:

"The section examined is found to be well located, both with reference to local and through traffic. The grades are light, three-fourths of the distance below the average of thirty feet, the sharpest curves being three degrees in radius, with two thousand feet embankment, and the excavations are within the requirements of the law. The ballasting is well done with gravel. The rolling stock is uniformly of excellent quality and good condition, and amply sufficient for all present and future requirements. The engine houses and repair shops are deemed to be adequate. Mention is made of the emigrant houses at Brainerd, Glyndon and Duluth, as being constructed with furniture and cooking utensils for the free use of those intending to settle on the Company's or Government lands. The snow fences, water stations, telegraph lines are considered ample for their purposes.

The report closes as follows: Having found this portion of the road to be judiciously located, and well constructed and equipped, and believing that it substantially meets the requirements of both the letter and spirit of the law and department regulations, the Committee recommend its acceptance by the Government. The report covers a distance of 228 miles."

FROM TEXAS.—We are in receipt of a letter from our friend and former townsman, S. E. Doner, Esq., who is at Marshall, Texas, the present headquarters of the Texas Pacific Railroad. He is well, and reports that times there are very dull, principally owing to the fact that the water is too low in the Red River to admit of navigation to that point. No boat has been able to get up as far as Jefferson, even, since last July. Owing to which fact (not having railroad communication as yet with the outside world) all kinds of supplies are very scarce and high: the road cannot get material to go on with the work of building, and operations thereon are at a stand still, until the river raises. The International Railroad, however, is expected to form a junction with the Texas Pacific at Long View, twenty miles west of Marshall, about the middle of January, and then they won't care a continental whether the Red River raises or not: and at Marshall, and all along the line, they expect to have good times, from that time forward, as the completion of the International to Long View will give them egress and ingress on the Texas Pacific. Mr. Doner wishes to be remembered to all his many Brainerd friends and acquaintances. He will probably go to the west end of the Northern Pacific in early spring.

OH, DEAR.—Deer are plentiful; every place you look you see deer, and deer seems to be a staple article, and deer meat, consequently, is not dear. Piles of deer are in front of every dealer's store; men drag deer along the street, and add them to some deer pile, and sleds haul deer into town, and the railroad hauls 'em out again. Oh, dear, what a time for deer.

GRANDEST HOLLIDAY DISPLAY OF ALL.—Our friend Raymond, of the firm of Hubbard, Raymond & Allen, the great Clothiers of Brainerd, has gone below. He has gone expressly for the purpose of bringing back a stock of Holliday goods, such as certainly this "neck of the woods" never witnessed before.—For be it known, this firm never does things by halves, as they have given abundant proof in the past. They promise us a stock of beautiful novelties, such as would grace any house in the country, and what we advise, is, don't be in a hurry to spend all your holliday money till they come else you will be sorry. Read their Holliday Advertisement.

WE had the pleasure of a call from Mr. Allen, of Hubbard, Raymond & Allen, from Glyndon, the other day. Mr. Allen is in charge of their mercantile establishment at that place, and reports that business has been excellent with him, although it is quieter at present. The good little burg of Glyndon is comfortably circumstanced for the winter, and the people therein are all happy—and that's the way to be.

ROBERT BRUNE, boot and shoe maker, opposite the Drug Store, has just got in a new stock of fine French leathers, and is prepared to build a pair of boots or shoes, on the shortest notice, from the finest French calf or Morocco uppers, to a stage boot. He still retains the services of that excellent workman, Mr. M. Kolm, who is always at his post to do his full share in filling orders promptly for first class work.

The City Caucuses.

The three wards of our city held their caucuses on Thursday evening, to place in nomination ward officers, and to elect five delegates each, to attend the City Convention, to be held at the Court House to-day. The result of the caucuses was as follows:

First Ward—Justice, David Stewart; Aldermen, Dennis McNamey, M. McMahon; Delegates, M. Tuttle, W. M. Falconer, Ed. Morse, T. M. Trudell, P. H. Trudell.

Second Ward—Justice of the Peace, D. O. Preston; Aldermen, Wm. Murphy, Anton Mahlum; Delegates, D. O. Preston, Hamilton, Reynolds, Dalquest, Russell.

Third Ward—Justice of the Peace, F. P. Summers; Aldermen, J. S. Campbell, H. G. Coykendall; Delegates, Campbell, Coykendall, McRae, Wicker, Degnon.

The following resolution was adopted at the Third Ward caucus: "On motion of H. G. Koykendall it was resolved that the Delegates be instructed to cast their votes for Eber H. Ely as the choice of the people of the Third Ward for Mayor, and that they be uninstructed as to the other City officers."

PERSONAL.—We omitted to notice last week the return of our friend W. B. Nickles, Esq., editor of the Red River Star, at Moorhead. Mr. N., as will be remembered by many, suspended his paper some weeks on account of a protracted illness, and returned to his father's home in Wisconsin, and as he passed through our city on his way thither he looked like a very "thin" article of shadow. But, what a change! He dropped in upon us last week on his way back to revive his paper, and he reminded us of the Cardiff Giant; only he was longer wide than he was bigger long, and we ourself resembled a pair of tongs along side of him. Well, old "fatty," we congratulate you, indeed; and hope you may revive your excellent paper and make it even a more valuable one to the flourishing city of Moorhead than ever before—and we know the liberal men of that place will ably assist in the re-establishment of so important an institution to them as the Star has ever been under the management of Mr. Nickles.

BRAINERD, AS SEEN BY A VISITOR.—Mr. O. G. Wall, editor of the Houston County (Minn.) Journal, paid the Northern Pacific country a visit recently, and gives a long and interesting article in his paper relative to what he saw and how he saw it, from which article we copy his impressions of our young "City of the Pines." He says:

"Brainerd is a town of less than two years growth, yet possessing from 1,500 to 2,000 inhabitants—(our town has about 2,700 of population.—Ed.) One will step upon the platform at the depot and stare in amazement at his surroundings. For hours and hours and miles and miles we have traveled through an almost continual forest.—In fact for over a hundred miles we have seen evergreens on either hand so dense as to be almost impenetrable by sight. The wildest picture of the imagination would scarcely overreach the unvarnished reality to which we allude; and right in the heart of this peculiarly wild wilderness, we stumble upon the little city of Brainerd, and met men of marked intelligence, who are polished in their manners, thoroughly posted on the doings of the day, and enterprising in spirit. There is nothing peculiar in this, save in the inexpressibly abrupt impression created; for we were aware that such a place as Brainerd existed, and that it was a town of some importance, being the headquarters of the Northern Pacific Rail Road Company. "But it is impossible to reach Brainerd without first discovering some near or remote signs of civilization," we soliloquized, only to be disappointed. There are some magnificent structures in Brainerd, for such a youth of a town; but that wild forest look which characterizes the whole country is not yet dispelled, there being scores of tall pines in the business centre of the place, which rear their green tops far above any of the works of art yet constructed. The town is situated on the eastern bank of the Mississippi. The country surrounding Brainerd is a paradise for wild game. Thirty deer were marketed in the place the day we reached it."

NEW BOOT AND SHOE FIRM.—We are pleased to welcome to the list of our liberal business men, Messrs. Marshall & Campbell, fashionable boot and shoe makers and dealers. They will open their establishment during the front end of next week, on Fourth street, just opposite, west, from Hills & Co.'s Store. Mr. Campbell will have personal charge of their establishment here, while Mr. Marshall will still remain in charge of their shop at Moorhead. They cordially invite the ladies and gentlemen of Brainerd to give them a call, when they get opened out, and see their ready made goods, and examine the class of work they manufacture. We wish these gentlemen success, as they are the people of enterprise and business, and to a stranger.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

Fourth Annual Message of President Grant.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In transmitting to you my fourth annual message, it is with thankfulness to the Ruler of all God that, as a nation, we have been blessed for the past year with peace at home and abroad, and a general prosperity unprecedented in our few people. With the exception of a blight great devastating fire which visited the city of Chicago, and others of less extent in other cities, and a few of a more local character, with the exception of these and the disasters to shipping and life attendant on the storms of the Great Lakes, we have been free from disasters which would have in other years been considered disasters of the first magnitude, and which would have been felt throughout the land. Our country has been free from epidemics, and the health of our people has been such as to leave the year one of the most healthy in our history. With the exception of a few localities, the crops of the country were abundant, and the harvesting of them was attended with unusually favorable weather. The industrial pursuits of the people have been in a healthy condition, and have been productive of good results to those engaged in them. The commercial interests of the country have been in a healthy condition, and have been productive of results satisfactory to those engaged in them, except that the shipping interest has not been in a condition to afford much profit to those engaged in it. The revenue from customs, however, has been sufficient to meet all the demands upon the Treasury, including those for the payment of principal and interest of the public debt, at a rate of taxation not burdensome to the people, and has left a surplus in the Treasury which, if not disposed of by the action of Congress, will accumulate to such an extent as to be a source of embarrassment to the Government. The revenue from internal taxes has been more than sufficient to meet the demands upon it, and a further reduction of taxation has been made by the last Congress, and more may be made without the necessity of resorting to the tariff for revenue to be levied on articles of general consumption. The condition of our currency is satisfactory, and the business of the country has been transacted during the year with a currency which has been at its maximum, and which has been of a character to meet the wants of the country. The public credit has been good during the year, and the 5-20 bonds have been paid in coin, or the coin equivalent, to the extent of over $100,000,000 during the year, and the 10-40 bonds have been exchanged for bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, to the extent of over $200,000,000 during the year. The 6 per cent. bonds have been paid to the extent of over $500,000,000 during the year, and the 6 per cent. bonds have been exchanged for bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, to the extent of over $300,000,000 during the year. The 5 per cent. bonds have been paid to the extent of over $100,000,000 during the year, and the 5 per cent. bonds have been exchanged for bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, to the extent of over $200,000,000 during the year. The 4 per cent. bonds have been paid to the extent of over $100,000,000 during the year, and the 4 per cent. bonds have been exchanged for bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, to the extent of over $200,000,000 during the year. The 3 per cent. bonds have been paid to the extent of over $100,000,000 during the year, and the 3 per cent. bonds have been exchanged for bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, to the extent of over $200,000,000 during the year. The 2 per cent. bonds have been paid to the extent of over $100,000,000 during the year, and the 2 per cent. bonds have been exchanged for bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, to the extent of over $200,000,000 during the year. The 1 per cent. bonds have been paid to the extent of over $100,000,000 during the year, and the 1 per cent.

Improvisations.

BY BAYARD TAYLOR.

What if we lose the seasons
 That seem of our happiest choice,
That life is fuller of reasons
 To sorrow than rejoice,
That time is richer in treasons,
 And hope has a faltering voice?

The dreams wherewith we were dowered
 Were gifts of an ignorant gain;
The truth hath at last overpowered
 The visions we clung to in vain;
But who would resist, as a coward,
 The knowledge that cometh from pain?

For the love, as a flower of the meadow,
 The love that stands firm as a tree—
For the stars that have vanished in shadow,
 The daylight, enduring and free—
For a dream of the dim El Dorado,
 A world to inhabit have we!

THE FARM, AND HOUSEHOLD.

Cooking Beans—Cheap Boarding.

A railroad builder in this state, who employs many laboring men, recently informed us that he had long given special attention to discover the most economical materials for food, and had found that beans well cooked, went further, and saved expenses better, than anything else. But as with other food, a great deal depends on good cooking, for if the work is badly performed, large quantities will be rejected and wasted; and less will be consumed of this, and more of other food. Our informant, who is an eastern man, had seen many dishes of beans cooked in the State of New York, not one of which had the peculiar excellence to which he had been accustomed. At our request he gave the details of the operation by which perfection in this dish might be attained, in substance as follows:

First boil the beans long enough to break the skins; then pour off the water, place a piece of pork in the centre, and cover the vessel. It is then to be buried in a pit of hot coals and ashes, previously prepared by digging in the ground, and continuing to burn a wood fire in this hole long enough to fill it with embers. The vessel of beans, buried with these coals and ashes, will then cook slowly for some ten or twelve hours—which will be indicated by the slight bubbling noise. The process is then completed. They will keep cold a week. He had known them cooked in one instance twenty-three hours and the result was highly satisfactory. An old fashioned brick oven will give out a mild and long continued heat, and will answer the same purpose nearly as well as the pit; but the heat of a kitchen stove is too changeable and uncertain.

On mentioning this "perfect" mode of cooking to a notable housewife, she furnished "an improvement" in the process which she had adopted. The beans were first par-boiled, as before mentioned; then the water was poured off, and a third addition made. A piece of pork was then put in, and the boiling continued an hour or two till all are thoroughly done. Then take out the pork and cover it with the beans in a drippingpan, adding a pint of the water in which they were last boiled. Bake a half hour. The successive boilings take away the strong flavor of the beans, and the cooking reaches the highest notch of perfection, rendering the whole delicate, rich and palatable. Can any of our skillful housekeeping readers tell us which of these two modes is best?

Next to beans, is wheat bread or wheat flour cooked in any way; Indian and buckwheat are nearly the same, but it is difficult to find a cook that will manage buckwheat so as to avoid bad cakes and a great waste. For this reason he does not use it. Nearly as economical as beans and wheat, is a free use of sugar. The more sugar he can get down his boarders' throats in different ways the better. He asserts that a pound of sugar is worth four hundred pounds of meat, and his meat bills were greatly reduced by its use. What say the keepers of boarding-houses to this opinion?—Country Gentleman.

Varieties of Fruit Tend to Run Out.

A correspondent sends the following to the Boston Cultivator:

"It was for a long time the prevailing opinion that when a good variety of fruit was originated from seed, it might be continued, by grafting and budding forever. About forty years ago, however, Thomas Andrew Knight, the distinguished president of the Horticultural Society of London, published an essay on its transactions, tending to overthrow this opinion and to establish the doctrine that all varieties are of limited duration.

"The theory advanced by Knight is as follows:

All the constitutional vigor or properties possessed by any variety of fruit are shared at the same time by all the plants that can be made from the buds of that variety; whether by grafting, budding or other modes of propagation. In similar terms, all the plants or trees of any particular kind of pear or apple, being only parts of one original tree, itself of limited duration, it follows as the parent trees, all the others must also soon after die. 'No trees of any variety can be made to produce blossoms or fruit till the original tree of that variety has attained the age of puberty; and under the ordinary mode of propagation, by grafts and buds, all become subject, at no very distant period, to the debilities and diseases of old age.

"This theory of Knight's, which showed considerable observation and contained truth, was received with favor and applause, and was doing much good till De Candole, a vegetable physiologist, came forward and combatted the theory. 'Varities,' says the distinguished vegetable physioligist, will endure and remain permanent so long as man chooses to take care of them, as is evident from the continued existence, to this day, of sorts the most ancient of those which have been described in books.—By negligence, or through successive bad seasons, they may become diseased, but care and culture will restore them, and retain them to all appearance forever.' See Downing's Fruit Book. Other distinguished writers including Downing, fell in with De Candole's views and supplanted Knight's theory, to the great injury of the orchard.

It may be easily demonstrated that fruit trees as well as potatoes, undergo a regular course of change, from infancy to age. In giving a history or life of a fruit tree, say an apple tree, I will begin at the beginning, that is, with the embryo. It consists of a short axis or stem, crowned with two or more undeveloped leaves, or, in other words, with a bud. In germination the bud end rises upward as if to seek the light or air; the root end turns constantly from the light and buries itself in the soil. The axis or stem, therefore, possesses a sort of polarity; is composed of two counterpart systems, viz: a descending axis or stem. The point of union or base of the two is termed the crown, neck or collar. The young embryo, having begun its development, keeps branching and growing in height and it would seem that there was nothing to stop its growth but external circumstances. Sooner or later, however, it changes its modes of development and bears flowers and fruit. It keeps on growing, nevertheless, in highth, though not so rapidly, till it attains the utmost height to which it is capable. It is now in a condition of which it should be understood and contemplated by every one who owns an orchard. The extremities of the branches which are the farthest removed from the crown wear a cadaverous and aged appearance generally, and are invariably more weak and feeble than the parts of the tree which are nearer the crown. The apples, too, which are borne on these points of a full-grown tree which are farthest from the crown are more easy to become yellow and the quickest to rot; but farther down the tree they are more hard and durable. Those which grow very near the crown are small and knurly, just like the apples the tree first bore. (The reader must bear in mind that I am speaking of a seedling tree.) The leaves which are borne on points near the crown have a youthful aspect, while those which are produced at the farthest extremities have an aged appearance. This view of the case was observed by Mr. Knight, which he staes in his original essay as follows:

The decay of the powers of life in the roots of trees is extremely slow compared with that in the branches; scions or shoots obtained from the roots of pear trees two hundred years old afford grafts which grow with great vigor, and which are often covered with thorns, like young seedling stocks; while other grafts taken at the same time from the extremities of the branches of such trees, present a totally different character and a very slow and unhealthy growth. I do not conceive that such shoots possess all the powers of young seedlings, but they possess an inconsiderable portion of such powers. When a seedling tree is cut down close to the ground and the sprouts start up and around the stump, they possess quite as much power of life as a seedling two years old. The roots of trees will often send up shoots which will frequently become large trees. Those which are near the trunk will attain a less size. They thus diminish in proportion to their distance from the trunk, until you come to those which sprout from the extremities of the longest roots of a full-grown tree, which will barely rise above the ground without attaining any size. This has been proved.

Way of Baking Graham Flour.

By this time, everybody knows how to make Graham "gems" by the usual method, which is simply to stir the batter a just a little stiffer than griddle-cake batter and bake quickly in a very hot oven. This thing is certain; the thinner the batter the hotter must be the oven. It is also the case that gems mixed with water requires a hotter oven than those mixed with milk. So if you cannot have a very hot oven, either make the mixture of simple Graham flour and water quite thick, or mix the flour with milk. Skimmed milk is good enough, though new or creamy milk makes the bread more short. Have the gem-pans very hot (I set them in the oven before filling them), and then a scrap of cloth with the least bit of butter upon it, rubbed over the irons, will prevent the gems from sticking.

Housekeepers who have no gem-pans can make very nice warm Graham bread for breakfast in several ways. Make a dough of flour and sweet milk (skimmed or creamy, as you prefer or find convenient), stiff enough to roll out easily. Knead this a little, roll it an inch thick, and cut it into diamonds; or cut off strips and make it into rolls with the hand; or roll the dough very thin and cut it into square crackers, pricking them well to prevent their puffing. Crackers are best with some cream in the mixing, and crackers require more kneading than diamonds and rolls, which are expected to be soft inside.

Any of these kinds of bread—diamonds rolls and crackers—are baked upon the grate in the oven, which should be wiped off clean. They will not stick to it, and will bake very fast. I recommend the crackers in particular. All these breads are sweeter and better, I think (and we all think so at our house), without salt but most people prefer salt in the crackers.—Good Health and Home.

The Shakers.

There is a consternation among the Shakers, with a probability that their eighteen fat communities may, ere long, go the way of "the world." A man named Sears, who sometime since, seceded from the Mount Morris community in New York, has made considerable money, and is now endeavoring to induce wholesale secession from the fold of "Zion." A great number of the younger Shakers are pairing off in an altogether unshakerly manner and preparing to elope. Sears is now in Kansas buying land for the seceders. The Shaker societies are now located as follows: Alfred community, York county, Me.; Cleveland, O.; Dayton, at Dayton, O.; Enfield, at Thomsonville, Conn.; Grafton Village, at Grafton Junction, Mass.; Enfield, Grafton county, N. H.; Mount Lebanon, Columbia county, N. Y.; Mt. Morris, Livingston county, N. Y.; Preston Union, Logan county, Ky.; Shaker Village, Merrimack county, N. H.; Shirly Village, Middlesex county, Mass.; Tyringham, Berkshire county, Mass.; Union Village, Warren county, O.; Watervliet, Albany, N. Y.; West Gloucester, [illegible] Gloucester, Cumberland county, Me.

Tobacco Hand Stamps.

Upon the petition of several large tobacco manufacturers to be allowed to use a hand stamp to imprint their respective names upon registered tobacco stamps, instead of printing such names, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has so far modified the existing regulations as to allow that privilege, provided such stamps are so made as to give a fac simile impression of the handwriting of the manufacturer, of his own or his firm's name, as written by him in his ordinary transactions. Any person or firm manufacturing tobacco who may be desirous of using such hand stamp, will make direct application to the Commissioner for special permit so to do, presenting at the same time samples of the fac simile impressions proposed to be used, which samples will be kept on file in the office of the Commissioner, with the applications and a list of the names of manufacturers to whom such permits have been given.

NITRO-GLYCERINE HORROR.

Terrible Explosion at Yonkers—Two Young Men Blown to Atoms—Two Others Fatally Injured—Two Men Killed at Scrub Grass, Pa, by an Explosion.

A terrible accident, causing the death of two young men, and severely, if not fatally, wounding two others, occurred on Monday, near Yonkers. Intense excitement now prevails in the vicinity. A reporter succeeded in gathering particulars to the effect that some time last summer, Sam Coffin, a contractor who had been engaged in grading the road-bed for the New York and Boston railroad along the valley, about two miles east of Yonkers, went to Michigan, leaving some cans of nitro-glycerine on a point near the premises of Stephen Fulton.

The explosive material, according to a statement made by John Troy, a young man who, with some friends, passed the spot about a month ago, was in [illegible] with the neck [illegible] same manner as those of demijohns of oil of vitrol. The place was surrounded by a fence made of hemlock boards, upon each side of which was this notice: "Danger! Danger! Danger! Let nothing tempt you to touch or even go near the contents of the enclosure. It is nitro-glycerine." Notwithstanding this warning, four young men of Yonkers, named John Donnelley, aged nineteen years, Wm. Terry, aged twenty-one years, Michael Callager, of Vineyard avenue, and George Hill, aged 19 years, resolved to ascertain the effects of nitro-glycerine, and while two of the party, Donnelly and Terry, shielded themselves behind large trees for protection, Callager and Hill, or one of them, threw stones at the cans. A terrific explosion followed, resulting in blowing the two young men last named into atoms, and at last accounts received from the scene of the tragedy, not a vestige of one of them (Hill) had been found. Fragments of his clothing only had lodged among the branches of trees near by. Although Donnelly and Terry were protected by trees, the former was dreadfully lacerated from head to foot, and Terry was injured about the face, particularly one of his eyes, of which he may lose the sight. The windows of Mr. Fulton's coach-house were shattered to pieces by the shock. The police proceeded to the scene and took charge of the remains. Donnelly and Terry received all necessary attention at the hospital. Upon the person of Terry about half a pound of power and some percussion caps were found. The news of the disaster spread with great rapidity in Yonkers and the friends of the four young men soon made their appearance at police headquarters to ascertain the names and details. The people of Yonkers are much excited in regard to the occurrence, all condemning Mr. Coffin for leaving nitro-glycerine in a spot where any catastrophe could possibly occur.

THE ACCIDENT AT SCRUB GRASS.

Saturday morning a terrible explosion occurred at the nitro-glycerine works of Roberts & Co., at Scrub Grass, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, resulting in the instant death of H. T. Wolf, a telegraph operator, and D. V. Wright, general agent of Roberts & Co. The explosion was fearful, shaking the earth in the neighborhood like an earthquake, and hurling stones and pieces of timber in all directions. The works were shattered as if they had been a target for artillery exercise. The ground on which the building stood was excavated to an astonishing depth. This excavation is directly underneath where the magazine was located. Not a piece of flesh bigger than a visiting card could be found of either of the unfortunate men, and limbs of trees in the vicinity held shreds of clothing and little bits of flesh. They were actually blown to atoms, and not a piece of flesh an inch long could be discovered. On the hillside a watch belonging to Dr. Wright was found, battered up and red with blood.

A horse standing a short distance from the scene was struck with a large piece of cordwood and knocked down, but strange to say got up unhurt. The cause of the disaster is unknown, and the amount of damage to property cannot just now be ascertained.

Only Fifteen Hours Sleep in Seven Weeks.

Denver (Col.) Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.

Other places have had their sensation in sleeping ladies, but mine host of the Hatten House has had a veritable wonder in the way of sleeplessness. Mrs. Clara Faircloth, of Chicago, Ill., came here for a change of scene and climate, and it is a positive fact that the lady has not slept fifteen hours, all told, in nearly seven weeks. She moves about the city, very like an invalid, at times has very severe spasms, at which time she begs for "morphine, morphine," until it is heartrending to hear. Of course it must be nervousness and a diseased condition of the brain, as one-third of the time without sleep would have driven a healthy brain mad. She is the daughter of D. D. Boone, M. D., of Chicago, and the case has been written up by the Medical Journal, of Chicago. It is astonishing how many pulmonic cases there are, and how many get to Denver. I have seen scores already who have been here from three to four months for their health.

THE SUPREME QUESTION.—Health is the most important of earthly blessings, and therefore the nervous anxiety of the sick to ascertain the relative merits of the various medicines in use is not surprising. Within the last ten years many thousands of invalids have abandoned the preparations of the pharmacopolist for the remedy introduced by Dr. Walker, of California, under the somewhat eccentric name of VINEGAR BITTERS. That his new Vegetable Medicine is "winning golden opinions of all sorts of people" is beyond a doubt. The accounts we hear of its extraordinary effects in cases of chronic dyspepsia, rheumatism, liver complaint, malarious fevers, nervous prostrations and many other distressing diseases, certainly justify the popularity which it has everywhere acquired. Dr. Walker claims for his specific a remedial power over all disorders that do not involve an irreparable destruction of bone and fibre, and results so far appear to have justified the claim. In this age of wonders we are not disposed to deny the possibility of any thing that is not directly at variance with the laws of nature, and as it is held by many physiologists that all maladies proceed from the same generic cause, we see no reason for the incredulity with which some people regard the idea of a Universal Medicine. Dr. Walker's preparation seems destined to be universally approved.—Com.

An account is given in the scientific papers of an interesting experiment in the treatment of glass—similar to the sand-blast action, which promises to effect such important results in the arts [illegible] useful manner.

In the experiment in question, the tube was of tin, of half-inch bore, six feet long, and was mounted at an angle of forty-five degrees. This tube was supplied, on its lower end, with a nozzle of one-twelfth inch diameter. The tube was filled with emery powder, and a sheet of double thick window glass was placed with its plane at a right angle with the tube and within two inches of the nozzle and the emery discharged from the tube.

The operation was repeated three times in eighteen minutes, and the result was the drilling of a hole through the glass, and the wearing away of quite a portion of it, in fish-tail shape, below the hole, where the emery passed down the incline of the glass into a receptacle. [illegible] glass was then changed and a piece of thin sheet lead having a hole of star-shape cut through, was pasted on the glass, with a whole opposite the nozzle of the tube. The result of this simple and ingenious experiment was a clear-cut star-shaped hole through the glass, without marring the lead pattern in the least.

CABLE SCREW WIRE BOOTS AND SHOES.—A word of explanation may not be out of place. The cable wire acts as a screw, is strong and firm, and at the same time is elastic and comfortable. It is much preferable to the old method of pegging, and quite as soft and elastic as sewed work, but much stronger and less liable to rip, and much less expensive. We have tried the cable screw shoes, which has proved all that is claimed for it. The increase in this new method of manufacturing boots and shoes is very rapid, and promises to supersede the wood peg and waxed thread.—The Standard, Chicago.

A medicine that has done more than all the prescriptions of the pharmacopœia to protect the human system against the bodily ills superinduced by unhealthy surroundings, is certainly worthy of universal confidence. It is mainly on account of its extraordinary preventive properties that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is so exceedingly popular in localities subject to the visitation of miasmatic fevers and other diseases produced by contaminated air. A family that has escaped sickness during a sickly season in consequence of using the Bitters as a [illegible] is a living advertisement of the virtues of the preparation. The whole neighborhood realize the fact. "I couldn't have believed it," says one. "I scarcely credited the advertisements; but one must believe the evidence of one's own senses," [illegible] "It is the very thing we need in this unwholesome section of country," remarks a third. And the result is that the instinct of self-defense, the first law of nature, induces three-fourths of that community to obtain a supply of the great vegetable antidote before the next sickly season sets in. In winter, when the system requires extra vigor and elasticity to endure [illegible] the effects of damp and cold, the Bitters will be found particularly serviceable. Rheumatism will not be apt to fasten upon muscles and nerves that have been braced up by this excellent invigorant and alterative, nor will the severities of the season, which have such a disastrous effect upon the pulmonary organs of the feeble and delicate, be likely to exercise the same untoward influence in cases where the stomach and external surface of the body (which always sympathizes with the digestive organs) have been toned and stimulated by a course of this restorative. The ills of indigestion and irregularity of the bowels which proceed from sudden changes of weather may always be averted by a timely use of the Bitters.

DR. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT is both a palliative and curative in all Lung Complaints, Bronchitis, &c. It is a standard remedy for Coughs and Colds, and needs only a trial to prove its worth.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, A WEEKLY PAPER FOR YOUNG PEOPLE AND THE FAMILY.

THE COMPANION aims to be a favorite in every family—looked for eagerly by the young folks, and read with interest by the older. Its purpose is to interest while it amuses; to be judicious, practical, sensible; and to have really permanent worth, while it attracts for an hour.

It is handsomely illustrated, and has for contributors some of the most attractive writers in the country. Among these are

Prof. James De Mille, Louisa M. Alcott, Grace Greenwood, Rebecca H. Davis, S. S. Robbins, Louise C. Moulton, Sophie May, C. A. Stephens, Ruth Chesterfield, Mrs. Dr. Lincoln.

Its reading is adapted to the old and young, is very varied in its character, sprightly and entertaining. It gives

Stories of Adventure, Letters of Travel, Editorials upon Current Topics, Historical Articles, Biographical Sketches, Religious Articles, Stories of Home and School Life, Tales, Poetry, Selections for Declamation, Anecdotes, Puzzles, Facts and Incidents.

Subscription Price, $1.50. Specimen copies sent free. Address

NATURE'S REMEDY. VEGETINE. THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

What is Needed.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871.

HENRY R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from General Debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and, after using several bottles, was restored to health, and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.

Respectfully yours,

U. L. PETTINGILL,

Firm of S. M. Pettingill & Co., No. 10 State Street, Boston.

Gives Health, Strength and Appetite.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of the VEGETINE. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all of her friends. A few bottles of the VEGETINE restored her health, strength and appetite.

N. H. TILDEN, Insurance and Real Estate Agent, No. 49 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

Heartily Recommends.

SOUTH BOSTON, Feb. 7, 1870.

MR. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I have taken several bottles of your VEGETINE, and am convinced it is a valuable remedy for Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaint, and general debility of the system.

I can heartily recommend it to all suffering from the above complaints.

Yours respectfully,

VINEGAR BITTERS. DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

INTERVIEW WITH OLD "LO!"—Wobowoquod is what he called himself, which means, in United States, "White Fisher." We struck him by the wayside in our perambulations, looking for things, the other day, and we saw at a glance that he was "some;" we immediately secured the services of a cheap interpreter, went for him, and were soon finding out all he knew; he was wonderfully loquacious, and told us in fifteen minutes more about "injun" than ever we knew before—notwithstanding we had in former days read all of Cooper's novels, the life of Captain Smith, and several "Dime" efforts. He told us he was Chief of the White Earth Chippewas, and that he was the biggest chief in the whole Chippewa ball-of-wax; Mr. Flat Mouth, chief of the Pillagers, could'nt hold a candle—nor any other man.—His father was a big chief also, and so was his mother; he had no ancestors but what had been chiefs, and the thing come perfectly natural to him. He dressed in white folk's toggery for the most part, and said he liked the whites tolerably well, a good deal of the time; he had some bad Indians in his nation, one of whom Bobolink was which, and that they were liable to slop over once in a while, which he attributed to the want of proper bringing up, or something; we suggested that such fellows ought to be brought up by the neck; he didn't notice the pun, however, and took a large chew of tobacco; said he had a pretty large family, but couldn't express the size in numbers; he used to have three wives, but one becoming slightly irregular in her practices, he proceeded to boot her out, since which time she has been doing the dirty work for some common red-skin; subsequently he ascertained that to have more than one regular wife was deemed in bad taste in well regulated households; and so he proceeded to give one of his remaining two wives a furlough, and now has only one. Mr. White Fisher expressed himself very well pleased at having a railroad through his (used to be) country, and said the white man had a right to have all the railroads he wanted through any country that rightfully belonged to him, although the Indians generally were not very enthusiastic on the railroad question; in fact they "had no use for them." We asked him what he thought of Brainerd; he said it was a big village; lots of houses, lots of men, lots of women, lots of money, and lots of whiskey; to all of which we answered yes; he said when he was a young Injun he had a hand to hand fight with a big bear, right near where Cantwell's store now stands—he having with him but a war-club and scalping-knife; the bear become badly scalped, however, after a very sanguinary and bloody conflict. White Fisher told us many more things of great interest, both in his own life, and things traditional, too numerous to detail at present. He said he now belonged to Church, and was proposing to finish his days, a very good Indian, and would do all he could to civilize his people by both precept and example, to which we responded amen, when we bade him adieu and went our way.

STATE OF MINNESONA, }
CROW WING COUNTY. }

OFFICE OF PROBATE JUDGE, W. W. HARTLEY, PROBATE JUDGE.

In the matter of the incorporation of Brainerd as a City.

A petition for the Incorporation of Brainerd, Crow Wing County and State of Minnesota, as "The City of Brainerd," signed by two-thirds of the qualified electors therein, as appears by said petition, and the returns of the annual election of Brainerd, held at Brainerd, Nov. 5th, 1872 now on file in the office of the Auditor of said county, and a certified copy of which is herewith presented, having been presented to me, W. W. Hartley, Probate Judge for said county, in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided, and it appearing to me by the census returns, now on file in this office, duly certified to by John Gurnee, Sheriff of said county, that the number of inhabitants of said proposed city of Brainerd, and residents within its proposed limits, are in excess of two thousand.

It is hereby ordered and adjudged, that the people residents within the following described limits to-, and the same are hereby duly incorporated as a body politic, and the said territory shall hereafter known and designated as "The City of Brainerd," with the following metes and bounds as set forth in said petition, to wit:

Commencing on the North line of Section Twenty-four—where said line intersects the Mississippi River. Thence East along said line to the Northeast corner of said Section Twenty-Four. Thence South along said Section Line, and the East side of Section Twenty-Five, to the Southeast corner of said Section Twenty-Five. Thence West along the South line of Section Twenty-Five to the Southwest corner of said Section, and thence due West on the line of the Fractional Section to the Mississippi River. Thence Northerly along the East bank or line of the said river to the intersection of the North line of Section Twenty-Four—the place of beginning—all in Fractional Township Number Forty-Five, Range Thirty-One West of Fourth Principal Meridian.

And it is further ordered that the said area for the purposes of this Incorporation shall be divided into three wards, to be known and designated as the "First," "Second" and "Third" wards of the City of Brainerd, with the following bounds:

The First ward to include all the within area lying South of the Northern Pacific Railroad track, and west of the center of Fifth street.

The Second ward to include all South of the Northern Pacific Railroad track, and East of the center of Fifth Street, within the limits of said incorporated territory, and the Third ward to include all North of the Northern Pacific Railroad track within the limits as aforesaid.

And it is further ordered that an election of officers for "The City of Brainerd" be held at the Court-House, in the said "City of Brainerd," on Monday, the 23rd day of December, A. D. 1872, for the election of a Mayor, Treasurer, Recorder, one Justice of the Peace for each ward, and two Aldermen for each ward.

Given under my hand and official Seal at Brainerd, county of Crow Wing, this 18th day of November, A. D. 1872.
