UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. E. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the most physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark.,three times, spending $300 there, besides other bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but none gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most excruciating agony, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to straighten, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

The judicial system of England is gravely defective in the respect that it does not require more than half of Oscar Wilde to be tried behind closed doors and kept out of the newspapers.

Umra Khan has fled and the country has submitted. Truly, the British Chitral expedition has swatted the Swati hip and thigh.

One reason why the Monroe doctrine holds good is that colonies governed from Europe are either taxed into extinction or reduced to starvation by being cut off from natural trade relations. For particulars look at Cuba and Newfoundland.

An investigation of the strawberry crust bee in Washington shows that it holds just one pint and a half of bees. The consumer of the early strawberry may think this remarkable shrinkage is a loss, but he forgets the sugar he saves.

The statement is now made that the Russian thistle in its native country is cut when green and dried for hay, and fed during the winter. This pernicious plant has failed here as an industrial basis for demanding a tariff proposition, and some other use will probably be found for it.

The new Spanish premier, Senor Canovas, is said to be the homeliest man and the most sarcastic orator in Madrid. As the senor was the champion of the abolition of slavery in Spain and its dependencies, he will not be judged hastily in this country.

It is reported that even the moon observed Good Friday by presenting the extraordinary celestial phenomenon of a cross upon its face at midnight Thursday, just upon the dawning of Good Friday. Reports as to this spectacle come from so many directions as to convince us that this was not a lunar illusion.

The great plains of the Orinoco are so level that the motion of the streams can hardly be detected over an area of 200,000 square miles. The more the possibilities of that region are looked into the more clearly it appears that England is playing for a high stake in her aggressive stand with Venezuela.

Mrs. Henry Meurer of 2004 Gough street, Baltimore, is the mother of three sets of twins. She is 24 years of age, her twenty-fifth birthday falling on the tenth of next July. Mrs. Meurer has been married a little over six years. The two latest additions to her family were born on March 4 of the six children two are girls and four are boys.

Gov. Morton of New York has just signed a bill incorporating a board to be called "Trustees of Scenic and Historic Places and Objects," with authority to acquire and hold real and personal estate not exceeding $1,000,000 in value. The board includes some of the best known citizens of the state, and it is probable that their intelligent work will lead to the creation of a similar body in other states.

The world's gold production last year, with all the returns in, stands at $170,000,000, an increase of $200,000,000 over 1893, and of $400,000,000 over the average between 1885 and 1890. More than a fourth of the gold mined in the world in 1894 is credited to the United States. This country appears to have a winning hand no matter what Europe does in regard to standards.

Baltimore has selected Clifton Park as the site of its centennial exposition to be held in 1897. The citizens are taking great interest in the project on the which last six months and includes large number of novel and striking features. Baltimore is one of the few cities that carries through what it undertakes in handsome style, and model booms in solid facts rather than noise and the manipulations of fiction.

The corporation of Trinity Church in New York has been sharply criticised lately for the condition of its tenement houses, and it finds the problem so difficult that it will confine its building operations hereafter to business structures. The City of Birmingham, Englandcd rid of its slums by tearing them down and improving the property with wide streets for business purposes.

A New York architect says there is practically no limit to the height of modern buildings except the convenience of the tenants, but he thinks thirty-five stories is about as many as should be ventured on at present. The steel construction now used, coupled from truss bridges, is pronounced wonderfully simple, strong comparatively cheap and rapid, and must be safer it is claimed , in an earthquake than any other form of building.

Statues of Monroe are likely to be more numerous in South America than in that president's native country. One is going up at Rio Janeiro and another of heroic size, cut out of Venezuelan marble, is to be erected in the public square of Caracas.These monuments express the American idea that the government by Europe on this side of the Atlantic is unacceptable. It is good doctrine, and will grow stronger as time passes.

Glass Shelves.

A set of hanging corner shelves that hold brica-brac in a dainty boudoir are of glass joined and suspended by [illegible] The shelves, three in number, are triangular in shape. The bottom shelf is the largest, and the other two are of successively smaller size. They were cut at the glacier's, and pierced at each end and back with a square, angle that fits into the corner of the wall. The git chains at each end and one in the middle of the shelf hold and support the shelves. At the ends of each shelf bows of satin ribbon are tied about me chain to keep it from slipping, and also for ornament. Although these shelves are very pretty, a more secure resting place for ornaments is a set of hanging shelves of white enameled wood, with the ends of the moldings that form the frame work capped with brass. These shelves, which have irregular compartments, some for books and some for ornaments, a plate-glass mirror over the upper shelf, and some of the shelves with a low spindle railing across the front, are sometimes sold for $2.50 or $3. They are pretty when hung over a cheap mantel that has no ornament, or in any other place. They look well in bed rooms where the bedsteads are of white and brass.

Celery Culture.

To raise celery sow seed on a south border in the middle of April, to drills six inches apart. When large enough to handle transplant to three feet beds, setting the plants two or three inches apart. Celery transplanted in this way never gets a setback when put in the trenches.

In regard to manure—farmyard manure is better for celery than fertilizer; that from the cow stable if possible. Should it be laid up a time, so much the better.

If you intend planting a large quantity if celery it is a good plan to run off the rows with a plow, say, five feet apart. Split open the rows with a plow. That will make a nice trench for your manure to be put in the best way, for large quantities worked with a spade is slow work. After the manure is in the trenches draw the soil worked into it, it is then ready for planting. The plants should be at least two or three inches below the level. This gives a nice chance to give plenty of water.

Without moisture it is impossible to grow good celery. Then, again, there is another consideration when winter comes on. After growing it all summer there is a large quantity of celery destroyed every year, through not being properly protected. A very good plan in the fall is to put say three rows together; round them over with leaves or salt hay; but the best plan of all is for any one that has room to store it away in frames. In such cases the frame must be banked up to keep frost out, and on all favorable occasions give air; but the celery must be put in the frame before the frosts cut by frost.—American Gardening.

Pretty summer dresses of inexpensive fabrics are made with a fitted Jersey-like bodice, reaching well over the hips and fastened up the back. This bodice is elaborately trimmed, and bishop sleeves of immense size are added. The skirt portion is either slitted or slitted to the edge of the bodice, and has merely a deep hem at the bottom. Toilets of even batiste are made with a yoke waist, fulness being used in the back, as are many of the bodices both for day and evening wear. The batiste is trimmed either with broad black velvet ribbon overlaid with narrower bands of cream lace insertion, or with bands and shoulder frills of the lace alone.

Jennie Winters and Mary Tifft, were arrested on Wednesday, on complaint of David Powerleau, a lumberman, charged with grand larceny. Powerleau says he was spending the night at the house in which the girls hold forth, when the Winters girl induced him to entrust her with $75 of cold cash, which she refuses to return. Hence he charges her with stealing that amount. The case came on for a hearing this morning and the girls were discharged.

Rumors are afloat and items appear in the daily papers every day or two that the Great Northern will build the Foston branch to Sandstone Lake, but they are persistently denied by the company's officials. The Duluth Herald, however, says "the rumors have been affirmed by the letting of contracts to Foley Bros., of St. Cloud, for fifty miles of road, and the subcontractors are now putting up their camps, and will start the work next Monday at Sandstone."

We are informed that Rev. Geo. E. Rowe, of the Baptist church, will leave Brainerd shortly for other fields of labor. It is said he has received several calls, one from a Boston church and one from Grand Rapids, Mich., and one or two others from churches in the east somewhere, the names of which we have not learned. We regret to see Bro. Rowe leave us, as he has relieved the tediousness of an otherwise uneventful winter for all the boys. We hope he will be successful in his new field.

In the Brainerd Tribune of Saturday we noticed the announcement that Win Meggurre would conduct the meeting at the Y. M. C. A., on Sunday afternoon. Win Meggurre was formerly a resident of Morrison county and had somewhat of a reputation as a pugilist. His last fight was with Sheehey in 1893, in this city at which time his ankle was dislocated. He said at that time he had entered the ring for the last time and he is keeping his word. Win Meggurre was always too much of a gentleman to be a prize fighter.—Transcript.

Improvements at the mill of the Brainerd Lumber company are being pushed rapidly and the mill will be ready to run before the first of May, the date that has been set for the finishing. The three hundred trucks that are to be used in the yards have arrived from Duluth and will be ready to use in moving lumber from the mill to the piling ground when the mill starts. For the first week the mill will run with only the day crew. After that the all day run will be inaugurated. The mill is more fortunately situated than the mills farther down the river, in that it has at hand in the lake a sufficient number of logs to keep it running during the season. The company is already prepared to do business as it recently secured a stock of 1,500,000 feet of lumber that was the property of the Gull River Lumber company.—Lumberman.

Assaulted By Toughs.

Peter Kiley, who lives near the Northern Mill, was assaulted by four men on Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock while returning home from town. The assault was committed not far from Mr. Kiley's home, after he left the street car. He says the men grabbed him, when he knocked one down, and in turn was knocked down by another. He was then seized by his assailants but after a struggle he released himself and ran away from them. In the struggle he was stabbed in the abdomen quite seriously, the cut being so long and deep that the intestines protruded. Dr. Camp was was called and he had Mr. Kiley removed to the hospital where he is now doing nicely. He did not know who it was that assaulted him but says that he thinks they mistook him for someone else. It has not been discovered who his assailants are.

LATER—Mr. Kileys wounds were pronounced than at first supposed, and he died to-day as a result of them.

New Dining Car Service.

It is a pleasure to note the addition of another important feature to the already competent train service of the Nickel Plate Road. The Dining Car service of this popular low rate line has recently been augmented, by which dinner will be served on train No. 6, leaving Chicago at 2 p. m. daily, and breakfast and dinner on train No. 2 leaving Chicago daily at 9:30 p. m. with direct connections for New York and Boston. Breakfast and dinner will be served on train No. 5, arriving in Chicago at 9:35 p. m. from New York and Boston.

DEATHS.

Joseph Carr died at the residence of Mrs. Jas. Cullen, in East Brainerd, on Sunday, April 21st, of heart failure, aged 40 years. Deceased was a single man, and has lived in this city for several years, being employed at the N. P. foundry as a moulder. His remains were shipped to the home of his people at Bridgeport, Conn.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Westfall died on Wednesday. Services were conducted at the grave by Rev. Edmands.

Mrs. Laura E. Reed, wife of Chas. A. Reed, who lives at No. 40, Tenth street north, died on Tuesday, April 23rd, of typhoid fever, aged 34 years. The funeral services occurred yesterday at the residence of deceased, Rev. Geo. E. Rowe officiating. Deceased leaves a son, besides her husband, to mourn her loss.

A railroad employe by the name of Ernest Bonar, died at the Sanitarium on Wednesday, from an abcess of the liver, aged 24 years. The remains were shipped to Sauk Center, Minn., for burial.

The remains of Mrs. Anna Wiegand, who has made her home for several years past with her son, George Wiegand, on a farm some miles south of this city, arrived here yesterday from New York City, where the unfortunate lady died while on her way to her childhood's home in Germany. Deceased left here on the 9th inst., but was taken sick in New York, when she was taken to St. Vincents Hospital for treatment, where she died on the 19th inst., of fatty degeneration of the heart, aged 50 years. Her remains were met here by her son, and taken to the East Brainerd German Lutheran church, where funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. S. Stapf.

Mack Donaldson, died Wednesday April 17th, of consumption, at the home of his mother on the farm in Oak Lawn township. Rev. Edmands, of this city, conducted the funeral services, and deceased was buried beside his father on the old place.

Mysteriously Disappeared.

Peter Olson, a well known Scandinavian citizen of this city, who lives on Pine street, between Sixth and Seventh, mysteriously disappeared on Saturday evening last, and no clue to his whereabouts has since been discovered. He had been suffering for some time with boils on his arm, and was not feeling well otherwise that evening, having a bad cold and being feverish, we are informed, so he told his wife, about 7 o'clock that he was going to the Sanitarium to consult the doctors. He was met by Dr. Kirkwood on the west end of the wagon bridge, and the Doctor made an appointment with him for the following day at 9 o'clock, when the Doctor came on over to town, while Mr. Olson went west towards the Sanitarium. That was the last seen of him. He did not go to the Sanitarium, however. As Mr. Olson is a man of good habits and is never out nights, his wife became very much alarmed at his absence the following morning, and search was instituted in all directions. The woods were scoured for miles around, and the river was dragged all day Monday and Monday night, as a great many thought he had jumped or fallen into the river, but no trace of him could be found. A hat was found under the railroad bridge on Sunday evening, but Mrs. Olson said it was not her husband's hat, as he wore a new one, and this was old and dilapidated. Mrs. Olson is nearly distracted at her husband's disappearance, as she can imagine no reason for his doing so. His family relations have been happy and he was a frugal, sober, industrious man, and although it has been ascertained that he owes considerable about town, his friends refuse to believe he has forsaken his home and family because of that. It is thought, rather, that he has become temporarily deranged, and wandered away in the woods and become lost, or as fallen or jumped into the river and lost his life. It is hoped that he is alive and will be found shortly.

Lumberman's Exchange Hotel Leased.

County Commissioner John Bubar has leased his hotel property, the Lumberman's Exchange, to Ed. McDonald, of Little Falls, who will take charge May 1st. Mr. Bubar is now recovering from a long spell of sickness and feels the need of rest, hence he determined to retire from the active management of the hotel. Concerning the new proprietor the Little Falls Transcript says:

Ed. McDonald has returned from Brainerd, and informs us that on May 1st he will take charge of the Lumbermen's Exchange hotel at Brainerd, formerly run by John Bubar. Since selling his saloon here some weeks ago Mr. McDonald has been on the lookout for a location, and finally made a deal with Mr. Bubar on Tuesday. The hotel has always enjoyed a good business and Mr. McDonald will certainly conduct it to the satisfaction of his patrons.
